

Trip Report Mad Libs

 and I went on a hike to the beach today. The trail started out in (friend's name)
a(n) forest. Huge old-growth cedars lined the path and a (adjective) (adverb)
 stream ran alongside us.
(adjective)

A boardwalk made from led us through a(n)
(adjective) (noun) (adjective)
wetland where we kept our eyes peeled for a wild .
(animal)

The trail soon climbed down onto a(n) beach and we continued
(adjective)
 along the shore. A flew overhead and we even (verb ending in -ing) (bird)
caught sight of a(n) swimming off shore.
(marine animal)

It was a little chilly out, but I decided to dip my in the water (body part) anyway. We saw plenty of shells and seaglass during our hike and we even found a rock that looked exactly like a !
(noun)

Thanks to the low tide, there was probably yards of beach to (number)
explore. We looked through the tide pools and saw little and (plural noun)
 scurrying around. There were plenty of clouds (plural noun) (color)
overhead, but luckily we had a thermos full of warm to enjoy.
(beverage)

Overall, we had a day at the beach. I can't wait to go back and (adjective)
pack along my favorite for next time!
(noun)

